NO ESCAPE FOR SEX PERV COSBY!

Judge FORCES FIEND TO ANSWER QUESTIONS about attacking teen grabbed her hand and forced her to perform a sex act on him.

"There's no escape for him now," a law enforcement source tells GLOBE. "By being forced to give a deposition about what went on with that 15-year-old at the Playboy Mansion, he'll have to finally tell the truth."

The father of five - who played beloved Dr. Cliff Huxtable on NBC's The Cosby Show - was exposed as a sex creep after bombshell admissions from a 2005 deposition were made public July 6.

In the unsealed testimony, Cosby, 78, admitted to purchasing Quaaludes and giving them to young women before having sex with them.

"I give her Quaaludes. We then have sex," he testified.

The Emmy-winning actor did not admit to committing any criminal act and his lawyer stated the sex was consensual.

"He's dodged and denied and fought back against the myriad other women who claimed he abused them - but now his back is up against the wall," adds the law enforcement source. "At least in this case, Cosby's going to have to come clean - finally!"

BILL COSBY is finally cornered! The disgraced actor - who's been accused of rape by more than 40 women - will finally have to answer questions regarding at least one of the sex attack charges against him.

A California judge ordered Cosby to give an Oct. 9 deposition in a lawsuit filed by Judy Huth. She claims she was just 15 when the accused serial rapist assaulted her at the Playboy Mansion in 1974. Cosby tried to wiggle out of the sworn testimony.

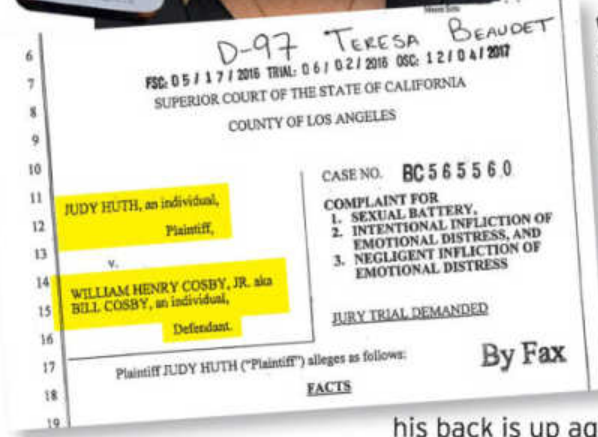

Scandal-scarred comic

Huth, who met the scandal-scarred comic on the set of one of his movies, says Cosby plied her with beers as they played billiards.

Later, she claims, he tried to put his hand down her pants. When she refused, Cosby allegedly REBA'S $70 MILLION DIVORCE BATTLE!

COUNTRY superstar Reba McEntire is headed for a bitter $70 million divorce battle, fear friends – and the fallout could rock the Nashville music scene to its core.

The singer, 60, recently announced she and estranged hubby Narvel Blackstock, 58, were splitting after 26 years of marriage. Reba insists they will continue to work together running their music management company, Starstruck Entertainment.

But sources tell GLOBE they doubt the couple can avoid an all-out war that puts their business empire – as well as Starstruck's prized clients Blake Shelton and Kelly Clarkson – up for grabs.

"Reba says Narvel is still her manager even though they're not together as a couple anymore, but it's hard to see how that will work out," a friend says.

Launched her career

Blackstock helped McEntire become one of country music's biggest stars. She's sold a whopping 85 million albums and scored more than three dozen No. 1 songs. He also helped launch her acting career.

Reba's self-titled TV sitcom ran on the WB Network from 2001 to 2007.

It's that intimate business relationship that ultimately destroyed the marriage, another source tells GLOBE.

'He was the brains...but it was Reba who got all the glory'

"Narvel has always believed he was the brains behind their operation, but it was Reba who got all the glory," the source says. "Over time, Reba didn't like the way Narvel handled her career. As she got older, she started to believe Narvel was more interested in his younger clients like Blake and Kelly."

Muddying the waters is the fact that Blackstock's son, Brandon, from his previous marriage, is married to Clarkson and personally handles Shelton's career.

Friends say Starstruck will likely be ripped apart during the divorce, with Reba retaining control.

If that happens, "Blake would likely try to get out of his contract, and Brandon would be in a tight spot," says the friend. "Would he stay with his dad or keep working for Reba?"

"Narvel and Reba are saying all the right things now, but it's easy to see why their divorce could get very, very ugly."

6 MONTHS IN COMA

Whatever injuries Bobbi Kristina may have suffered on the day of her drowning likely healed while she was comatose

CORONERS who conducted an autopsy on Whitney Houston's tragic daughter, Bobbi Kristina, came up with a huge question mark – they can't determine what killed the 22-year-old who died after nearly six months in a coma!

After examining her remains, Georgia's Fulton County Medical Examiner still doesn't know Bobbi Kristina's cause of death – or exactly what happened before she was discovered face down and unconscious in her bathtub back in January!

Now relatives in charge of the young woman's estate have clobbered her boyfriend, Nick Gordon, 26, with a $10 million lawsuit charging he viciously beat her just before the tragedy. And lawmen are probing the situation, too, suspecting she may have been killed!

"This case is not over!" declares Paul Huebl, a former Chicago cop who's now a top Hollywood private eye.

"Because Bobbi Kristina spent so long in a coma, the initial autopsy information will show very little.

"But there were reports she had purple and blue bruises on her forehead, a swollen mouth and a missing tooth when she was first admitted to the hospital.

"She was in a coma for the next six months, so those injuries healed before her death on July 26. Obviously, they wouldn't be seen during the autopsy.

"However, detectives and CSI experts will uncover more evidence."

Foul play

On Jan. 31, Bobbi Kristina, daughter of the I Will Always Love You singer Houston and R&B star Bobby Brown, was discovered unresponsive in a bathtub at her Roswell, Georgia, townhouse.

Her preliminary autopsy, performed more than six months after she was found in her tub, "did not reveal an underlying cause of death and no significant injuries were noted," says the medical examiner.

But grief-stricken family

Bobbi Kristina's estate has launched a $10 million lawsuit against her boyfriend, Nick Gordon members insist she was the victim of foul play.

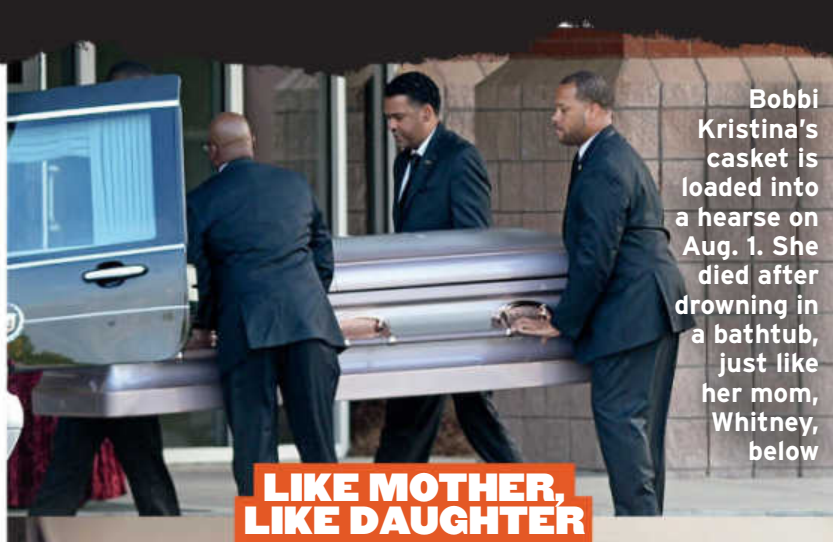

And in court papers filed June 24, conservators of Bobbi Kristina's estate charge that she and her boyfriend, Gordon, "became embroiled in a large argument."

They claim he attacked her, "punching her in the face, knocking out a front tooth and dragging her upstairs by the hair."

And after she was placed in a medically-induced coma, Gordon stole "in excess of $11,000" from her bank account, the suit alleges.

Gordon has denied any wrongdoing, but 2012 at age 48, in a Beverly Hills hotel bathtub. While her death was ruled a drowning due to heart disease and cocaine use as GLOBE has previously reported, Huebl believes the scene was staged and she was likely murdered by her drug dealers.

Huebl also notes the Georgia coroner has subpoenaed Bobbi Kristina's medical records and won't determine a cause of death until he reviews them, and further testing is completed.

These records will show any injuries she had before they healed.

"The evidence suggests Bobbi Kristina was the victim of a brutal attack," says the private eye.

"We'll find out soon enough whether cops charge someone in her death – and the mystery is finally solved."

has refused to discuss any details of her last night. However, his lawyer claims Bobbi Kristina habitually got high and passed out in bathtubs.

Meanwhile, Huebl notes Gordon could be held accountable "if he exploited her drug addictions for his monetary gain."

Ironically, Bobbi Kristina's superstar mom died in similarly suspicious circumstances. She was found dead on Feb. 11,

WHITNEY & DAUGHTER BURIED SIDE BY SIDE

Houston's gravesite in Fairview Cemetery

BOBBI KRISTINA BROWN and her mom Whitney Houston are now together for eternity after suffering eerily similar bathtub drownings.

The daughter of the late pop icon was laid to rest alongside her mom at Fairview Cemetery in Westfield, N.J., on Aug. 3. About 20 mourners, including Bobbi Kristina's grandmother, Cissy Houston, and Whitney's cousin, Dionne Warwick, gathered at the gravesite. Notably missing was her dad, Bobby Brown.

"It was very heart-wrenching and sad," says an eyewitness.

Two days earlier, a memorial service in the Atlanta area organized by family friend Tyler Perry was disrupted by Bobby Brown's sister, Leolah. She was escorted out after shouting at Bobbi Kristina's aunt, Pat Houston, the executor of Whitney's estate.

Says the burial eyewitness, "Bobbi Kristina was too young to leave this world."

ISIS KILLERS TARGETING WILLIAM'S CHOPPER!

EVIL ISIS murderers know every move helicopter pilot Prince William makes, thanks to a $3.99 cell phone app that tracks his flights and rescue missions.

Now, Palace insiders say his gorgeous wife, Kate, is scared witless the future King is a target for terrorists' unbridled bloodlust!

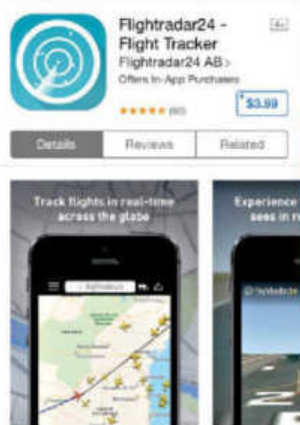

"Kate always knew his job was risky from day one," says a source. "But she's "She's begging him to take a nice, safe desk job. She told him, 'Please, quit now! Don't make me a widow!' And she said he can still be a regular working stiff – just not one with a target on his back."

And Kate is not alone in her fears. News that the 33-year-old Prince could so easily be tracked and assassinated has shocked Britain.

"It's incredible a simple app costing less than $5 could turn William into a sitting duck," says one source.

Now William's wife, Kate, 33, is haunted her children, toddler George and newborn Charlotte, could grow up without a dad. She has been trying to talk him into grounding himself – but her hubby is a stubborn man, say insiders.

"Kate pointed out that the Taliban put a price on the head of his younger brother, Harry, when he flew military gunships in Afghanistan three years ago," says the insider. "And believe it or not, members of ISIS are even more violent and actually enjoy killing just for the sake of it."

"Offering a million-dollar reward for murdering perhaps the most admired member of the Royal Family – besides the Queen herself – would be chicken feed to them. They have unlimited access to cash."

"Kate told William he has to think of the children first. Nevertheless, William is determined to show the nation that he won't be sent into hiding by terrorists. But as brave as he is, he's been forced to accept tighter security – for his sake and for the medics and crew who fly with him."

"These days, brain-washed ISIS killers are lurking everywhere in Britain – and William is a prize target for ruthless extremists," says the source.

"When William took the $60,000-a-year job as an air ambulance pilot, he told his bosses he wanted no special treatment."

"But now his security detail is on red alert, knowing the heir to the Throne is terrifyingly vulnerable and high on the ISIS hit list."

Says one infuriated analyst, "Take control of this situation and solve the problem NOW, or William will be dead inside of a year."

And an Internet blogger adds, "If the helicopter can be seen with a long lens, it could as easily be in the crosshairs of a terrorist's weapon."

CROOKED HILLARY

CROOKED Hillary Clinton is heading to the big house instead of the White House!

That's the shocking fate the frontrunner for the Democratic presidential nomination is facing as the FBI launches a criminal investigation into her private e-mail scandal, sources say.

The probe will rip the lid off just how much Hillary used her home server and other private devices to store and send classified documents during her stint as Secretary of State.

"Make no mistake, this is a criminal probe," says a federal source with knowledge of the inquiry. "A security violation would lead to criminal charges."

And they carry jail time!

"Hillary faces prosecution under the same federal security statute used to charge former CIA director Gen. David Petraeus," explains a source.

Petraeus faced one year in prison after he admitted sharing classified information with his sexy biographer and lover, Paula Broadwell. But in a plea deal, he escaped jail time. Instead, he was sentenced to three years' probation and given a $100,000 fine.

"The threshold under the statute is not high," notes the source. "They only need to prove there was an unauthorized removal and retention

FBI CRIMINAL INVESTIGATION INTO TOP SECRET INFO LEAKS

Investigators are targeting Hillary Clinton's private e-mail servers set up at her Chappaqua, N.Y., home (above) during her term as U.S. Secretary of State of classified material.”

Former President Bill Clinton fears his wife is toast insiders say

The controversy over Clinton's e-mail exploded in the summer of 2014 following congressional requests related to the deadly 2012 attacks on a U.S. compound in Benghazi, Libya.

At that point, government officials say the State Department lawyers preparing a response suddenly realized they didn't have access to some of Hillary's records.

In March, it was revealed Clinton, 67, exclusively used a private e-mail account set up at her Chappaqua, N.Y., home – and run on her own computer servers.

Government officials believe hundreds of e-mails that passed through the private server may have contained classified or sensitive information, sparking the new FBI investigation.

Hillary's case is “far more severe than anything that Petraeus has done,” charges FOX News political commentator Sean Hannity, adding that the Department of Justice will “probably demand jail time.”

And that could be Hillary's worst nightmare.

“Hillary's ambitions have turned from winning the White House to desperately praying she won't go to prison,” says a source. “You can see the cracks developing in her usually strong demeanor. The fact that the FBI is now involved in the e-mail scandal is huge.”

“She's had fantasies since she was a teenager about becoming President and has been anticipating moving into the White House again – but she now has to be worried she'll be moving into a cell at a federal prison.

Brave face

“She'll continue to put on a brave face, but inside she's got to be freaking out. This e-mail issue is overtaking her life and her campaign.”

And political insiders say, even her ex-President hubby, Bill Clinton, “fears this scandal is sinking her White House dream. He knows how hard it is to recover from a criminal probe like this.”

Meanwhile, Hillary is being blasted online. “This is getting silly,” charges one poster. “The FBI and other official agencies have been ‘looking into’ Hillary's violations for almost two years. The time has come to file criminal charges.”

Another adds, “If it were one of us peons, our over-crowded prison system would be that much more packed.”

And a third predicts, “She's going to do time. We all know what she did was illegal and she got rid of evidence AFTER she was told to preserve her e-mails. She belongs in an orange jumpsuit!”

According to Sinatra biographer J. Randy Taraborrelli, Frank and Ava once got into a nasty fight at the Copacabana nightclub – and she ran off to her ex-husband Artie Shaw’s house.

Later, she returned to the hotel suite she was sharing with Frank. He called her from the other bedroom to announce, “I’m gonna kill myself. Right now!”

to the other room to find Frank lying on the floor with his eyes closed and a smoking gun in his hand.

As she flung herself on his body crying hysterically, he opened his eyes and she saw bullet holes in the mattress. At the last second, he'd apparently decided to shoot the bed instead of himself.

After Ol' Blue Eyes' divorced his first wife, Nancy, for Ava, the two lovers got into another fight in Lake Tahoe. She jumped into her car and drove to L.A. But shortly after she arrived, she got word that the crooner had swallowed a handful of sleeping pills and docs "didn't think he was going to make it."

Just in time

He DID pull through. But he was still convinced Ava didn't really love him. He tried again a few weeks later at a friend's New York apartment. He popped some pills, turned on the stove's gas jets and went to sleep. Fortunately, his friend came home just in time to rouse him.

Frank and Ava wed in November 1951, but the relationship was too volatile to last. Ava dumped Frank barely two years later after hearing that he was cheating on her with a Las Vegas showgirl.

While Ava was tough with Frank, he could be equally cruel to his other lovers. He had a blazing affair with Hollywood bad girl Lana Turner, and she only found out he'd dumped her by reading about it in the newspapers.

He also turned a cold shoulder der to actress Lauren Bacall, after he asked her to married him. When their romance made headlines, he told her they'd have to lay low for a while. But Bacall said the next time they saw each other, "Frank didn't acknowledge my existence, not a flicker of recognition."

COUNTRY SINGER LYNN ANDERSON DIED BATTLING BOOZE

COUNTRY music star Lynn Anderson spent her sad final years locked in a bitter battle with the bottle - and the law!

The 67-year-old singer, who shot to fame with the 1970 hit I Never Promised You a Rose Garden, died July 30 from a heart attack.

Once one of country's top-selling female artists, Anderson's long struggle with booze took a terrible toll, evident in a series of mugshots snapped in recent years.

In November, she was busted for DUI after a crash in Nashville, Tenn. In 2006, she was arrested after rear-ending a vehicle near Espanola, N.M.

And a year earlier, she made headlines for shoplifting a DVD of a Harry Potter film and punching a Taos, N.M., cop who tried to get her into a patrol car.

That arrest came just weeks after she was nabbed in Denton, Texas, on suspicion of drunken driving.

Following the back-to-back arrests, Anderson, who went through a detox program and counseling in 1995, entered rehab.

Despite her struggles, Anderson continued to record music. In June, she released the gospel album Bridges.

TORI SPELLING BADLY BURNED

REALITY star Tori Spelling is still healing after suffering a severe burn to her arm in April. The mom-of-four was out celebrating Easter Sunday with hubby Dean McDermott and their kids - Liam, 8, Stella, 7, Hattie, 3, and Finn, 2 - at Benihana Japanese Restaurant in Encino, Calif., when she tripped and fell backward onto a scorching hot hibachi grill.

The 42-year-old True Tori diva underwent skin grafts and has been keeping the wound under wraps ever since. Tori recently went bandage-free during a photoshoot for her Web site, revealing an angry red scar on the underside of her right forearm.

Despite her injury, Tori's been a trouper. She's been spotted out and about, shopping, working and enjoying fun time with her family since the accident.

Luke found fame with the 90210 gang

LUKE PERRY HATES '90210'

INGRATE Luke Perry, who shot to fame playing bad boy Dylan McKay on wildly popular Beverly Hills, 90210, hasn't got a good word to say about the '90s show.

When asked what he thought about the series, he dismissed it as, "Third grade...it's just not relevant." He said the interest in his character was because "I had cool hair."

And questioned about whether he'll watch Lifetime's Unauthorized Beverly Hills, 90210 Story, which airs Oct. 3 on the 25th anniversary of the drama's FOX premiere, he was equally blunt, saying, "Why would I want to watch this?"

His bratty answers earned him an Internet backlash, with one poster saying, "Actually, Luke, the show that made you a star is more relevant than you currently are."

TWISTED TEEN TURNS

A TIGHT-KNIT California artists' community is reeling after a precious 8-year-old girl was kidnapped, raped and strangled by a local teen, say cops.

Shockingly, the suspect is a shy, 15-year-old yo-yo expert, Adrian Jerry "A.J." Gonzalez, who is well-known and popular in the Santa Cruz neighborhood. The crime shocked the trendy area.

Loyal neighbors

Little Madyson "Maddy" Middleton went missing July 26 as she rode her Razor scooter around the Tannery Arts Center. Loyal neighbors quickly rallied to help lawmen in a massive search.

But their efforts were actually hampered by Gonzalez, who took a bizarre interest in their activities.

Resident Setorro Garcia recalls Gonzalez "suspiciously" kept asking if there were "any updates" during the street-by-street search for the girl. The teen became such a nuisance Garcia says he felt like "shooing him away."

Tragically, less than 24 hours after Maddy was reported missing, a detective found her body – tied and ravaged – stashed in a recycling bin.

Soon after the grisly discovery, cops say they spotted

LITTLE ANGEL

HEARTBROKEN MOM

Gonzalez lurking nearby. After questioning the teen, police hauled him off in handcuffs. He's now been slapped with six felonies, including murder, rape and kidnapping.

Gonzalez is too young to be eligible for the death penalty, but he's being charged as an adult and could face life in prison without parole. And Santa Cruz District Attorney Jeff Rosell has pledged to win justice for Maddy.

"We're confident in the

Mourners leave flowers and other items at a makeshift memorial by the Tannery Arts Center in Santa Cruz charges we filed," he says. "We're going to bring him to justice, and there is no plea deal on the table for anything."

Cops say the twisted teen lured Maddy into the apartment where he lived with his mom, then tied her up, raped her and ended her budding life before dumping her body in a recycling bin.

While some residents wondered if Maddy could have been saved, cops say evidence shows Gonzalez murdered her before she'd been reported missing.

"It's my belief that she was killed before we even got the phone call on Sunday night," says Santa Cruz Police Chief Kevin Vogel.

A massive search for the girl ended when her body was found in a recycling bin about 24 hours after she was reported missing

As Gonzalez remains locked up in a juvenile detention center awaiting trial, neighbors at the artists' colony — a public-private non-profit that includes 100 affordable loft apartments for artists and their families — still can't believe he was the one arrested.

Mental health history

"He was the quiet kid that played with the yo-yo," notes Garcia.

Another neighborhood resident, Lisa Silas, adds, "I thought it had to be a mistake. I can't speculate for A.J. or his mental health history, but to do something like that, he must have had some history we didn't know about."

Lawmen are staying tight-lipped about the case, but a social media posting by Gonzalez shows his dark side. In it, he quotes song lyrics saying, "The dreams in which I'm dying are the best I've had."

But even as the community mourns Maddy's tragic loss, neighbor Garcia vows they will stick together.

"We are family," he says.

'CAT BOWLING' CREEP COLLARED FOR CRUELTY!

TURNED IN BY PALS who caught him on camera

AUTHORITIES weren't pussy-footing around when they slapped heartless David Hunter Todd with animal cruelty charges for using his 2-year-old cat as a bowling ball.

Amazingly, Todd's horrifying actions were caught on camera, cops say.

"He was torturing the cat very bad," says Kevin Chen, whose pal videotaped the June 9 drama. "He would literally take the cat up and swing it like a bowling ball."

The pal turned over the tape to the local police, who paid Todd a visit in his Edmond, Okla., home. At first, the creep denied abusing Luna, a shorthaired female kitty he'd recently adopted. But cops say he eventually confessed, claiming the fickle feline was antisocial and bit him – and he just "snapped," tossing her 10 times.

"I just get frustrated and I take it personally, and I know it's not personal," Todd told cops.

SUSPECT

Animal Services officials say when they arrived at Todd's apartment, Luna was listless and wet. She'd suffered internal injuries, possible head trauma and had several claws ripped out.

"She seemed like she was almost dead,"

MEA-OUCH!

Luna's fur was shaved during her treatment after her ordeal. David Todd (left) is accused of using her like a bowling ball says Edmond Animal Services officer Cara Drake.

Fortunately, the tough cat is expected to make a full recovery, then be put up for adoption again.

Meanwhile, a petition calling for Todd to face the maximum penalty – five years in the slammer and a $500 fine – has amassed nearly 2,000 signatures!

MURDERED teen Shannon Sider's loved ones waited 26 years for justice to finally be served! Her killers were slammed with maximum prison sentences on July 21.

Paul (left) and Matthew Jones are finally paying for their crimes

October, the Jones boys initially escaped justice, but they were eventually tripped up after the cold case was reopened in 2011.

New witnesses unleashed bombshell testimony leading to their conviction in May.

Matthew, 45, was found guilty of first-degree murder and sentenced to life behind bars. Paul, 43, got 30 years for second-degree murder.

Says Michigan Attorney General Bill Schuette, "This conviction and sentencing is proof that no case is too cold for a successful prosecution."

IT'S just too easy to say Woody Allen is a creep. It's like saying the sky is blue, the sun sets in the west or Bill Cosby is a sex fiend. It's a no-brainer.

Of course Woody is a creep – but he's a SPECIAL kind of creep.

He's the kind you can't squish out with your shoe or flush down the toilet or close your eyes and make disappear.

He's always there – just waiting to cause that sickening rumble in your stomach that makes you want to projectile vomit. He's every decent person's nightmare.

No one needs to be reminded The Woodman and actress Mia Farrow had a 12-year romance that ended abruptly in 1992 when he declared his love for then-21-year-old Soon-Yi Previn – despite her being the adopted daughter of Farrow and ex-hubby Andre Previn.

In one of the ugliest scandals in entertainment history, odd couple Woody and Soon-Yi married in 1997 and even adopted two daughters. Now Weirdo Woody is shooting his mouth off about his sickening conquest.

"I'm 35 years older, and somehow, through no fault of mine or hers, the dynamic worked," boasts Allen, who turns 80 this year. "I was paternal. She responded to someone who was paternal."

GLOBE'S Editor-in-Chief Jeff Rodack tells it like it is about celebrities – how they get under his skin with their stupid antics and the nonsense they try to put over on the public. Here is his unique take on newsmakers and fakers from Hollywood to Washington to London.

WEIRDO WOODY ALLEN SHOULD BURN IN HELL!

Amal Alamuddin, wants Saif (inset), the killer son of Libyan dictator Colonel Moammar Gadhafi, to be spared the death penalty

"I started the relationship with her and I thought it would just be a fling...She enjoyed being introduced to many, many things that I knew from experience, and I enjoyed showing her those things."

Just shut the hell up, slime ball, and crawl back under your rock!

AND ONE MORE THING...George Clooney's bleeding heart wife,

Amal, is at it again. Now, the asinine attorney, made an 11th-hour bid to save the lives of the son of Libyan dictator Colonel Gadhafi and his despicable spy chief, Abdullah al-Senussi.

Saif Gadhafi and his goon were sentenced to death for crimes against the Libyan people. Now Clooney's clueless wife, who is representing Gadhafi's thug, is demanding the two be tried before an international tribunal, where there is no death penalty.

Her client supervised torture, assassinations and town-square hangings. And a Paris court convicted him in absentia for the bombing of a French airliner in 1989.

Nice guy...don't you think?

If Amal is successful, maybe George could invite him to his next movie premiere. After all, George and Abdullah both seem to enjoy making bombs!

Well, that's it for this week, friends. Let me know what you think!

LAVERNE & SHIRLEY CRAZY CAT FIGHTS!

PENNY MARSHALL and Cindy Williams played best buddies in the Happy Days spin-off Laverne & Shirley. But Williams, 68, admitted they had "very different personalities" that led to some on-set clashes. Now, both insist they're good friends. Marshall, 71, who played Laverne, has bravely battled cancer and blames her medical treatment for a weight gain that has her tipping the scales at 270 pounds.

MAX WRIGHT has gone downhill since playing dad Willie Tanner on Alf from 1986 to 1990. He was caught on-camera making "gay pornography" and smoking crack in 2001. But this fall, you'll see him playing a tycoon in ABC's prime-time soap Blood and Oil. Thomas' career sputtered so badly after "Vice" he was hawking a telephone psychic network! JOHN RATZENBERGER
& SHELLEY LONG

SHELLEY LONG and John Ratzenberger helped propel Cheers to top ratings, but both endured personal problems after the sitcom's 11-year run ended in 1993. Long, who played waitress Diane Chambers, overdosed on painkillers in 2004 in what some sources believed was a suicide attempt. The divorcee, 65, who has one daughter, Juliana, 30, was later hospitalized for severe depression, but you'll still see her in occasional TV roles. Ratzenberger, 68, sought a restraining order against his ex-fiancee in 2009, fearing she'd vandalize his car or hurt him. But he found love with activist Julie Blichfeldt, 48. They wed in 2012. The brainy actor who got laughs as postman Cliff Clavin also developed an eco-friendly packaging product and continues to do voice work.

SIMON & SIMON DETECTIVE SHOT!

JAMESON PARKER co-starred with Gerald McRaney as brothers A.J. and Rick who ran a P.I. agency on the hit series Simon & Simon from 1981-89. Three years after the show ended, Parker was shot in BOTH arms by a real-life neighbor, Robert St. George, in Studio City, Calif. The shooter was sent to prison for nine years. Father of four, Parker, 67, wed to third wife, Darleen since 1992, recovered but quit acting in 2004 to become a writer.

AFTER three disastrous marriages to men, Meredith Baxter, 68, is now wed to a woman, building contractor Nancy Locke. The mother of five, who played Keaton family matriarch Elyse on Family Ties from 1982 to 1989, shocked the world in 2009 when she announced she was gay, saying, "I am a lesbian and it was a later-in-life recognition."

Baxter's sassy TV daughter, Jennifer - actress Tina Yothers, 42 - also had some shocking turns. She struggled to find acting work after the sitcom ended, but has featured in a number of celebrity reality shows, including an episode of TLC's What Not To Wear.

Youngest cast member Brian Bonsall, 33, who played adorable

CANDICE BERGEN, CHARLES KIMBROUGH, FAITH FORD & JOE REGALBUTO

ONCE waif-thin, Candice Bergen, 69, proudly admits to packing on the pounds over the past 15 years - with a source estimating the Murphy Brown star now weighs over 200 pounds! "I am fat," says the actress, whose stint playing a TV newsgal ended in 1998 after 10 years. "I live to eat," she adds. She landed a job on Boston Legal, but since that gig ended in 2008, roles have been few and far between.

Meanwhile, Faith Ford, 50, who played Corky Sherwood, has left Hollywood to return to her native Louisiana with second hubby, Campion Murphy! Saying she prefers "homecooking" and "homemaking" to the hustle and bustle of showbiz, Ford is keeping a low profile these days.

So is Joe Regalbuto, who played Murphy's best friend, FYI investigative reporter Frank Fontana. After the sitcom ended, he moved on to small parts in the series Chicken Soup for the Soul, Ally McBeal, Ghost Whisperer, and a recurring role on Side Order of Life. But his last TV role came in 2012 in the series Southland. In recent years, Regalbuto has gone behind the camera directing episodes of George Lopez, Saint George, Hot in Cleveland and Partners.

When Murphy got axed, Charles Kimbrough, who played stuffy anchorman Jim Dial, concentrated on voice acting, lending his baritone to such productions as Batman Beyond. But in 2012, Kimbrough, 79, starred in Broadway's Harvey.

DEAR JOHN STAR'S DRUG BUST DRAMA

FOLLOWING '80s hits Taxi and Dear John, Judd Hirsch kept nabbing big roles including the 1996 movie blockbuster Independence Day. In 2003, Hirsch was devastated when son Alexander, now 49, got a year in prison after Chicago cops found two bales of marijuana in his car. This year, the 80-year-old starred in ABC's medical-crime drama Forever.

CROC HUNTER'S GIRL PLANNING TO ELOPE!

Bindi Irwin, 17, falls for U.S. wakeboard hunk

CROCODILE HUNTER Steve Irwin's beloved teenage daughter, Bindi, is set to rip the family apart by running away with her daredevil American boyfriend Chandler Powell, say sources.

Bindi, who just turned 17, is head over heels in love with the 18-year-old Florida hunk and has been having a long distance relationship with the wakeboarder for more than a year. Now, sources say, the Australian cutie wants to be with Powell all the time.

Global ambassador

"This has alarmed her mom, Terri," says a source. "She's terrified Bindi will elope with Chandler unless she invites him to live at the Australia Zoo."

Bindi, Bob and Terri Irwin have carried on The Croc Hunter's legacy at the Australia Zoo

Lovebirds Bindi Irwin and Chandler Powell live thousands of miles apart - but stay in touch. Steve Irwin (right) and little Bindi with a young gator in 2005

"Bindi has already talked Terri into allowing Chandler to join her as a global ambassador for the Irwin's Wildlife Warriors conservation program."

"But Terri thinks Bindi should date other guys and not become involved in a committed romantic relationship."

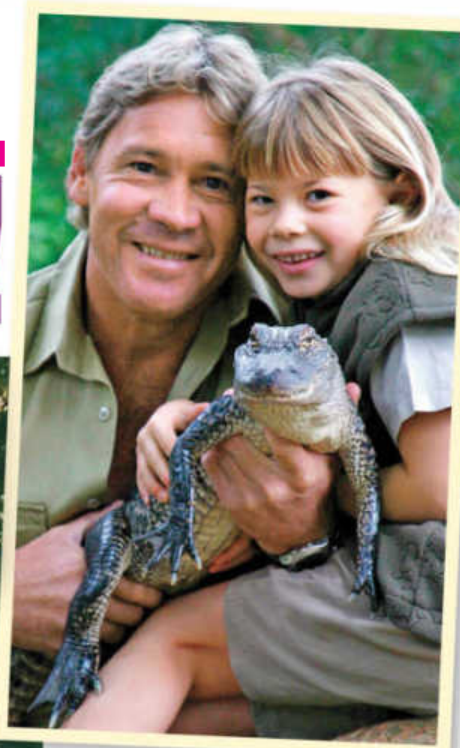

"Naturally, Bindi is in a state of revolt and wants her own way. She is very strong-willed and much more mature for her age than other teenagers. She's been through so much."

"That's why Terri is afraid Bindi's planning to elope and even live with Chandler in Florida until they reach an age when they can wed."

Watching like a hawk

The insider says Terri's still mourning her hubby, who was killed nine years ago while filming a documentary on the Barrier Reef. The action man was stabbed through the heart by a stingray.

Steve's widow endured the tragedy. But after the loss of her mother last year, Terri's kids, Bindi and Bob, are all she has left, sources say.

"You can bet she's watching her daughter like a hawk," says the insider.

Meanwhile, Bindi's wearing her heart on her sleeve, saying, "There is someone special in my life right now and I'm really happy with that. Life is wonderful at the moment."

Says the source, "Chandler seems to feel the same way about her and they hate spending long periods apart."

"Terri has told friends she's terrified her daughter will up and elope if she can't have Chandler with her all the time."

"Bindi's tough once she makes up her mind - and she says she's found the man she intends to spend the rest of her life with."

7 THINGS THAT MAKE YOU

EXHAUSTED!

WHAT'S really making you tired?

About one-third of us feel exhausted all the time, say experts, but the reasons can be surprising – and easily remedied.

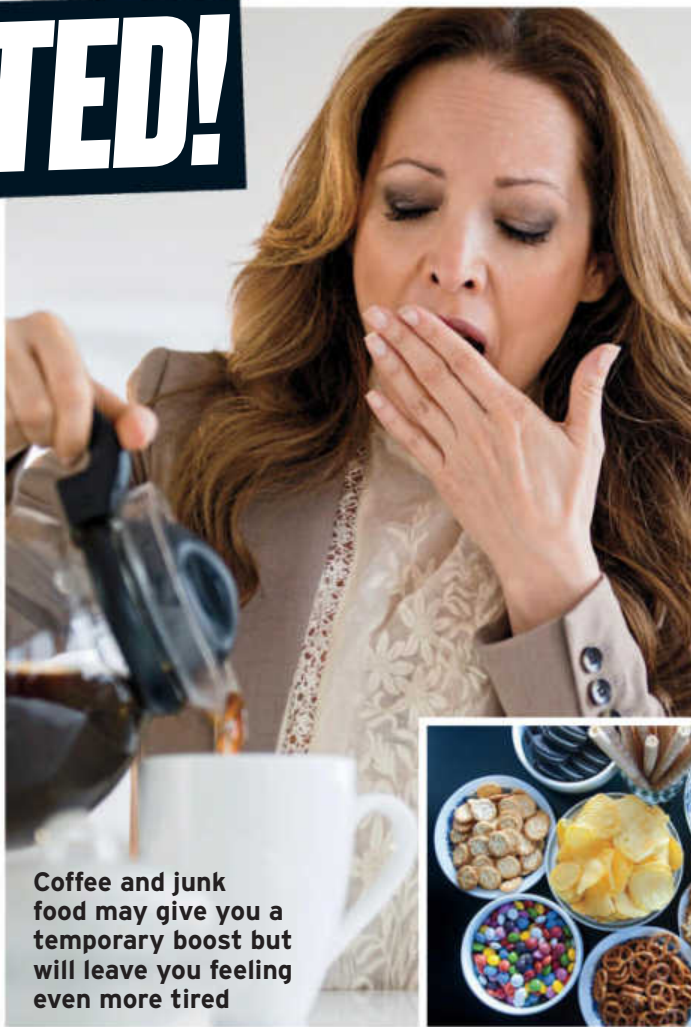

“Sadly, most physicians aren’t trained to handle fatigue effectively so it can be frustrating for the patient to get relief,” explains Dr. Jacob Teitelbaum, author of Real Cause, Real Cure.

But once your doctor has ruled out more worrisome causes, Teitelbaum says you can handle the rest with these tips:

■ If restless leg syndrome is disrupting your sleep, check for an iron deficiency and add magnesium to your diet.

■ Stop being such a perfectionist! The constant anguish to get things right saps your energy.

■ Cut down on coffee. Caffeine is a stimulant which gives you

Coffee and junk food may give you a temporary boost but will leave you feeling even more tired a temporary boost but can ultimately leave you feeling more tired. Switch to decaf after your second cup of the day.

■ Eat fewer high-carb foods, which cause energy spikes in blood sugar levels. Switch to complex carbohydrates like whole grains, fruits and vegetables to give you steady, all-day energy.

■ Eating more protein, such as meat, fish, cheese, beans and yogurt, will give you steady energy release, preventing the 4 p.m. slump.

■ Check blood sugar levels. If your tiredness is accompanied by sight problems, constant thirst and frequent infections, you could have undiagnosed type 2 diabetes.

■ Check your testosterone levels.

Orange juice boosts brain power

➤ EVERYONE knows orange juice is good for health, but did you know it boosts brain power, too? A study of people over 60 found downing 16 ounces of the tasty citrus beverage every day improves mental abilities like memory, reaction time and verbal fluency. In just eight weeks, juiced test subjects revealed an 8 percent jump in brain power, say scientists at England’s University of Reading. That could mean a dramatic upgrade of mental abilities over a lifespan.

Potassium helps women avoid strokes

➤ GALS who are trying to slim by banning baked potatoes and bananas from their menu are doing the wrong thing. These foods – plus beans, tomato paste and dried apricots – are loaded with potassium, a key mineral for women. Researchers at New York’s Einstein College of Medicine say women who get enough potassium slashed their risk of strokes by 12 to 16 percent. Unfortunately, less than 2 percent of adults get the recommended 4,700 milligrams of potassium per day.

Don't sneeze
on your pet!

WARNING! YOU CAN MAKE YOUR PET SICK!

WHEN people get sick, they worry about spreading their illness to loved ones and friends – but you can make your pets sick, too!

Many illnesses are transmitted from humans to animals so you should practice the same hygiene with your furry friends as with family members.

“Wash your hands frequently before handling their food,” says Florida vet Dr. Leslie Hack. “Avoid coughing or sneezing around your pet.”

Diseases humans can pass to pets include:

■ Flu: In 2009, a cat caught the flu from its owner and died. Since then, many other cases have been recorded including dogs, rabbits and ferrets.

■ Salmonella: Pets can contract this bacterial disease of the intestines the same way as humans, from contaminated water or food.

■ Tuberculosis: Several studies found all canines diagnosed with tuberculosis had been in contact with an infected human. Cats rarely get the disease

■ MRSA: A study discovered that animals suffering from these antibiotic-resistant staph infections had owners who worked in health care, or had been hospitalized recently or were caring for a family member who'd been hospitalized.

SOAP OPERA COUPLE IN REAL-LIFE FLING!

General Hospital cast doesn't share Kelly's new joy

Kelly and Billy were photographed openly frolicking in Malibu, Calif.

REAL-LIFE love has blossomed on the set of General Hospital!

After months of playing a married couple on the daytime soap, Billy Miller, 35, and Kelly Monaco, 39, have opened up about their off-screen romance.

The lovebirds were recently spotted frolicking in the surf of Malibu, Calif.

"Billy and Kelly hit it off right away, but they tried to keep it on the down-low," a source tells GLOBE.

"They weren't sure how their castmates and the producers would react. But they're crazy about each other, and now they don't care who knows it!"

And some members of the cast aren't too happy about the hookup, insiders reveal.

As a real-life two-some and on-screen power couple, people on the set are worried Billy and Kelly are going to have too much clout!

Emmy winner Miller jumped ship from The Young and the Restless to General Hospital last October to play Jason Morgan, an amnesiac married to Monaco's character, Sam.

"The story line gave Billy and Kelly some pretty riveting scenes, and there was certainly some line-reading going on after hours," notes the source.

Monaco, who won the first season of Dancing with the Stars in 2005, had been out of the dating scene since her split from high school sweetheart, Mike Gonzalez, in 2009. But she's fallen hard for Miller.

"Billy swept Kelly off her feet," says the source. "They have such a connection, you can see them eventually marrying!"

ADDICT EMINEM LOST 81 POUNDS

DETROIT rapper Eminem's habit of gulping painkillers and anxiety medications, washed down with gallons of booze, made him balloon to a whopping 230 pounds - but a new addiction triggered an 81-pound weight loss!

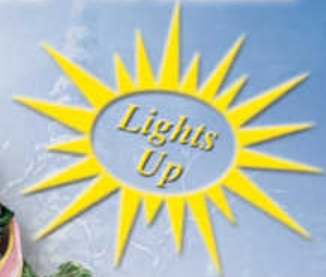

"Unless I was blitzed out of my mind, I had trouble sleeping," confesses Eminem, 42. "But the coating on the Vicodin and Valium I'd been taking for years leaves a hole in your stomach, so to avoid a stomach ache, I was constantly eating - and eating badly," says the 5-foot-7 artist, whose real name is Marshall Bruce Mathers III.

Following an overdose and a stint in rehab, Eminem knew he had to get healthy and shed the pounds, so he began pounding away on a treadmill. He ended up with an "addiction" to exercise!

"I started running" like a "ing hamster!" he says.

But it worked for him! His weight soon whittled away to 149 pounds!

JOAN RIVERS' DAUGHTER DISHES DIRT!

Melissa reveals mom was TOTALLY NUTS

JOAN RIVERS may be gone, but she's not forgotten!

As the first anniversary of the comedy legend's death approaches, her daughter, Melissa, reveals some embarrassing – and funny – things about her tart-tongued mom.

First off, Melissa says that Joan was a TERRIBLE driver.

"The five scariest words that came out of my mother's mouth were, 'Melissa, get in the car,' " she says. "There were few things in this world more frightening than being in a car when she was behind the wheel – and that includes skydiving and swimming with sharks."

Joan apparently never went above 40 miles per hour, even on a highway. She'd also drive with her hazard lights on, saying, "I use them as a deterrent – that way people stay out of my way."

Joan, who died at age 81 on Sept. 4, 2014, after a botched procedure on her throat, also had problems obeying rules, like not feeding table scraps to Melissa's dogs. Once Melissa caught her mom giving the pooches leftover Chinese food from the fridge. When Melissa scolded her, snarky Joan scoffed, "You only said not to feed them from the table, not the refrigerator."

Joan would also ignore grandson Cooper's bedtime, keeping the kid up late watching TV and eating sugary snacks. Then, when Cooper woke up cranky, just as Melissa had warned, Joan told her, "You really need to make sure he gets more sleep."

Outrageous

In Melissa's new tome, The Book of Joan: Tales of Mirth, Mischief and Manipulation, she also says Joan's only athletic endeavor was "power shopping," and she never encouraged her daughter to play sports.

Joan with Melissa and grandson Cooper

"When I was in high school," says Melissa, "my mother was convinced the only reason I was playing sports was because I was trying to gently break the news that I was a lesbian."

And the caustic comedienne was no ace in the kitchen. In fact, Melissa insists her mom's "signature dish was takeaway."

Oddly, Joan made Melissa put on nice clothes whenever she ordered room service in a hotel.

"I snapped at my mother, 'Why do I have to dress up for room service? Who's going to see me?' " Melissa recalls. "She jumped all over that one. 'The waiter. There's a 50 percent chance he's single and a 60 percent chance he's straight. You're not getting any younger. Play the odds. Dress up!'"

Melissa, 47, also notes how her mom told outrageous lies to make her life seem more dramatic. Once, she insisted that her flight hit gale-force headwinds and a flock of geese when nothing out of the ordinary had happened.

When Melissa called her mom on the fib, Joan replied, "If I'd told you it was a simple, easy flight, would you have found it interesting?"

ROWDY RODDY PIPER AUTOPSY COVER-UP!

WRESTLING legend Rowdy Roddy Piper is at the center of a shocking autopsy cover-up scandal.

An ace investigator charges Piper likely DIDN'T die of natural causes, as officially determined, but may have fallen victim to the same killer brain disease that has sent many other pro wrestlers to an early grave!

However, former Secret Service agent-turned-law enforcement consultant John A. Carman notes that what REALLY killed Piper will NEVER be known – because there was NO autopsy.

After Piper, 61, died in his sleep at his home in Hollywood, Calif., on July 31, his death was officially ruled to be the result of “cardiac arrest.”

John A. Carman

But there was no investigation to determine if the death was actually due to a form of brain damage from multiple concussions suffered during his ring career – or his admitted steroid and illegal drug use.

Carman tells GLOBE, “I smell a cover-up. Piper’s private doctor said he’d sign the death certificate and there’d be no need for an autopsy.

“But deaths at home are supposed to be turned over to the local coroner for one to be performed.

“The coroner’s office was told they’d be provided with blood and urine samples to be screened for drugs.

“That would only reveal what substances were present hours before he died, not his history of drug use that could have weakened his heart.”

Forgoing an autopsy is especially surprising since Piper predicted he’d go to an early grave because of the toll wrestling took on his body.

In a 2003 interview he said, “I can’t touch my pension plan until I’m 65. I’m not going to make 65. Let’s just face facts.”

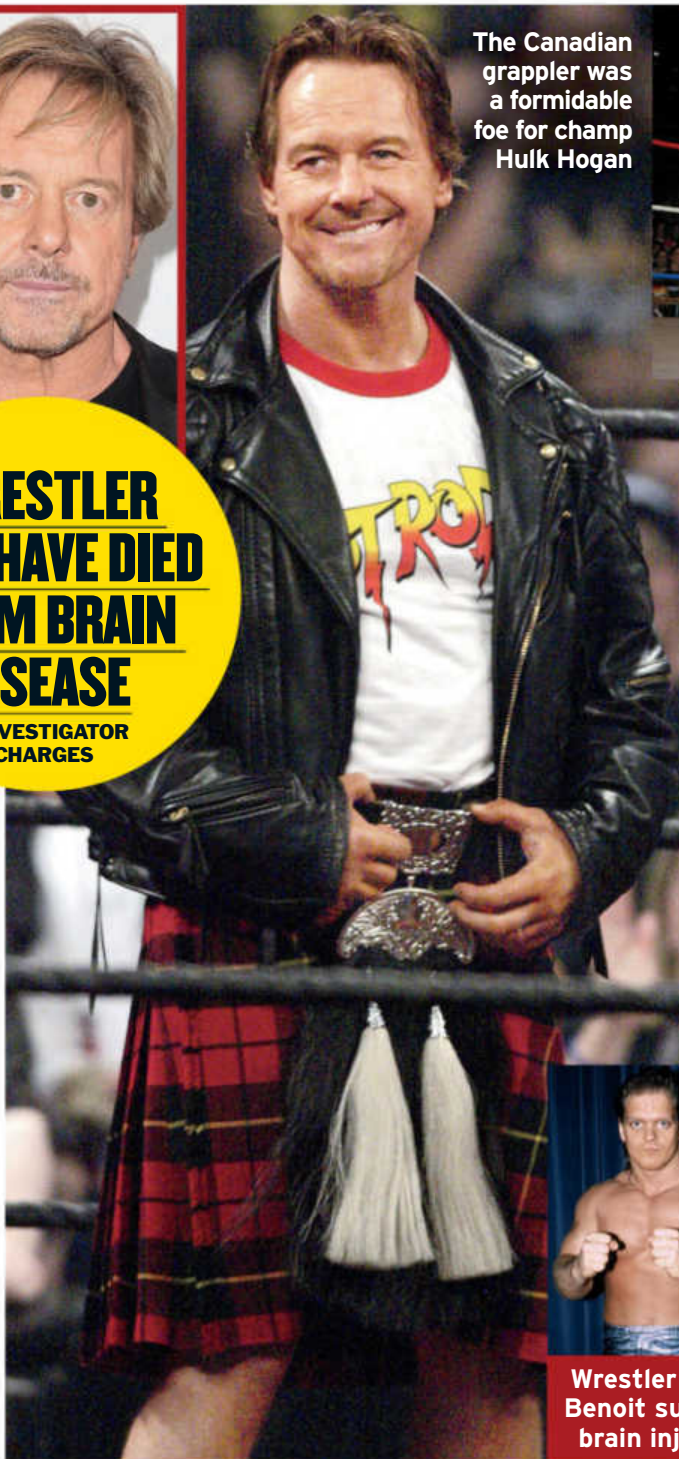

Blows to the head

According to Carman, the married father of four may have been stricken with CTE (chronic traumatic encephalopathy) which is caused by repeated concussions and blows to the head over years.

It’s the same condition that sent grappler Chris Benoit into a murderous – and suicidal – rage in June 2007.

Says Carman, “Unless there’s an autopsy, no one will ever know what really killed him.”

SEXY FBI SHOW SPARKS OUTRAGE

THE new ABC drama Quantico is at the center of a sex controversy even before its fall premiere.

The sizzling promo clips for the FBI series starring Bollywood beauty Priyanka Chopra have come under fire for being too steamy and “hypersexualized.”

The series, debuting Sept. 27, centers on new FBI recruit Alex Parrish (Chopra), who’s framed for the largest terrorist attack in U.S. history and then sets out to prove her innocence.

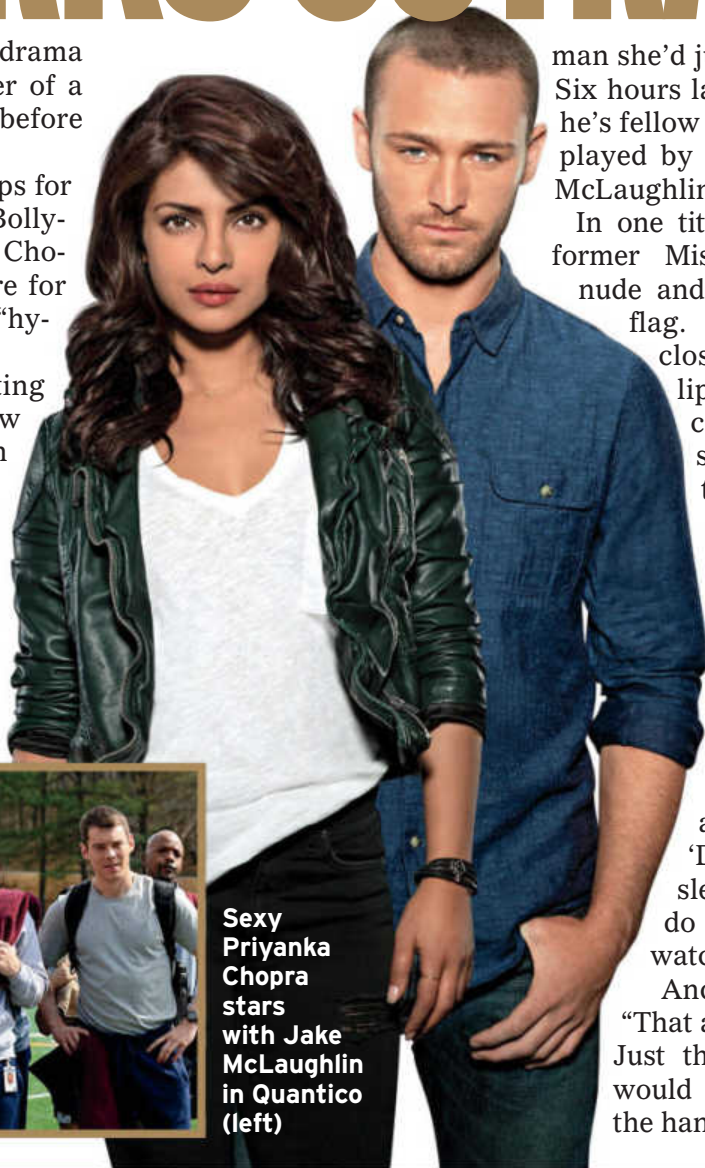

In the trailer, Chopra is shown in a car sitting on the lap of a man she’d just met having sex. Six hours later she learns that he’s fellow recruit Ryan Booth played by Believe hunk Jake McLaughlin.

In one titillating promo, the former Miss World appears nude and draped in an FBI flag. Another has a close-up of her full lips before the camera shows her stunning face and then her shapely body, dressed in jeans, a black leather jacket – and handcuffs.

Calling it like soft porn or S&M, one online critic blasts, “I literally felt like the ads were asking, ‘Do you want to sleep with her? You do right? You should watch this show?’”

And another charges, “That advertising is gross. Just the flag as a gown would be gross, but add the handcuffs...Ewww.”

Breaking Bad’s Bryan Cranston, Anna Gunn and Bob Odenkirk have all been guest stars on Seinfeld.

HARRISON BLASTS UNREAL

CHRIS HARRISON, host of ABC's The Bachelor and The Bachelorette, is lashing out at Lifetime's series UnREAL, which pokes fun at the behind-the-scenes drama surrounding romance reality shows.

Harrison fumes, "It's complete fiction. As much as they would love to jump on our coattails, at the end of the day, absolutely nobody is watching that show. Why? It is terrible. It is really terrible."

"UnREAL is just a really bad

attempt at a parody, and they got what they deserved, and that is no one is watching the show."

But the comedy, which stars Constance Zimmer and Shiri Appleby, has had decent enough cable ratings to be renewed for a second season.

LACHEY TELLS THE TRUTH

BRUNETTE beauty Vanessa Lachey (right) will be Mark-Paul Gosselaar's wife in NBC's new fall comedy Truth Be Told.

The 34-year-old actress is replacing the show's first choice, Meaghan Rath, who has been forced to drop out because another pilot she filmed, FOX's The Guide to Surviving Life, was also given the green light.

The comedy, which will air on Fridays, follows the lives of two very different couples who are both neighbors and best friends. Tone Bell and Bresha Webb play the other couple.

Vanessa, who has two children with husband Nick Lachey and host of The Sing-Off, headlined the short-lived sitcom, Dads.

Gosselaar, who found fame on Saved by the Bell, recently starred in Franklin & Bash.

AMAZING footage of an Unidentified Flying Object overtaking a Virgin Atlantic jumbo jet during take-off was captured at New York's JFK airport.

In the footage dated July 7, the mystery craft appears behind the plane's tail, then accelerates past it at incredible speed.

Rick, from LookNowTV, which posted the video online, says, "The person that saw this UFO at JFK films planes often and looks to catch UFOs on video.

"I worked with the guy...I thought this one doesn't look like a bug or another plane in the background. I have no reason to believe this is a hoax. It's really unidentified."

Alien visitors

While the film clip triggered a world-wide barrage of speculation about alien visitors, not everyone's as convinced as Rick that this was a "flying saucer."

British UFO expert Russ Kellett notes, "It seems to get narrower and wider as it's moving, it's hard to say.

"It comes behind from the airplane's tail...there should be nothing getting that close to an aircraft.

It doesn't look to be a bird or anything like that but at a different angle, it could be anything."

But try telling that to the true extraterrestrial believers out there.

"Guys, this happens," say one Internet commenter who's sticking to the alien theory.

"I recorded a video similar to this a few years ago when I was at the beach, and the UFO I caught was even more clear than this.

"Alien drones do investigate everything that flies, from planes to kites, they shoot past to do a quick scan and satisfy their curiosity."

VIAGRA OVERDOSE NEARLY KILLED EVIL JOE JACKSON!

— SHOCKING CLAIM

JOE JACKSON's recent brush with death has been linked to an overdose of the erectile dysfunction drug Viagra, claim sources.

The 87-year-old Jackson family patriarch, a notorious skirt-chaser, was rushed to Albert Einstein Hospital in Sao Paulo, Brazil, July 26, after suffering a stroke just hours before a $200,000 birthday party in his honor. He then had three heart attacks and reports circulated he was "on the verge of death."

Now GLOBE has learned that in the days leading up to Joe's medical crisis, he was out bar-hopping, dining and partying with a group of "voluptuous" young women, including busty French singer Angelina Stiliti, 25, whose career Joe "manages."

During his second night on the town, Joe reportedly mixed liquor and "three little

Joe, who's a diabetic, has already suffered three other heart attacks and six strokes over the past two years.

The combination of young women, all-night partying, booze and especially sex drugs "was too much for him," reported the local Sao Paulo newspaper.

KATE WINSLET: MY BATTLE WITH SCHOOL BULLIES

TITANIC beauty Kate Winslet confesses she was mercilessly bullied at school in Maidenhead, England - but suffered in silence.

"I was chubby, always had big feet, the wrong shoes, bad hair," says the 39-year-old actress. "There was one girl who was horrible to me.

"I chose not to bring it to the attention of the whole school at the time - as is often the case in these circumstances, people can be apprehensive about speaking out.

"Instead, I sought the counsel of one trusted teacher who guided me through this situation."

But after becoming the toast of Tinseltown, Kate saw her tormentor toiling in a department store, went up to her and said, "I want to thank you being such a bitch because it made me a lot stronger!"

FLASHBACK

WHALE OF A TALE!

EVEN with a wooden leg, bearded Gregory Peck cut a dashing figure as Captain Ahab, the twisted sailor obsessed with getting revenge on man-munching white whale Moby Dick. But his 1956 performance was harpooned by critics. Peck later admitted that at age 38, he was too young to play Ahab, who was supposed to be an old man at the end of his working life. In fact, the handsome star thought the movie's director, John Huston, would have been perfect for the part.

Home. Cooked. GOODNESS.
